

West Texas State May Get University Status

Redesignation of West Texas State College as a university is being sought from the Texas Legislature in a bill introduced Monday in the House of Representatives by Amarillo Rep. J. M. Simpson. A similar bill was expected to be introduced in the Senate by Amarillo Sen. Grady Hazlewood.

Official permission to ask the Legislature for the change was given by the Board of Regents of Texas State Teachers Colleges at its Nov. 9 meeting.

In a letter to Simpson and Hazlewood, President James P. Cornette, Student Body President Ralph Dunn, and Ex-Students Association President Joe Fortenberry of Amarillo, expressed gratitude for their willingness to sponsor bills.

The letter stated that "the name of West Texas State College should be changed to university because the term 'university" more accurately describes the institution than does the term "college," and because it would be to the advantage of the institution to have the title "university" rather than "college."

Dr. Cornette said that the term "college" designates an institution whose administrative organization is that of a single-unit, general purpose institution, whereas "university" designates an institution whose administrative organization is several-unit, multipurpose.

In the letter, Dr. Cornette points out that WT has for many years been a several-unit institution in administrative organization and multipurpose in function. He said that of the fall semester enrollment headcount of 3778, a total of 34 per cent of the students were enrolled in the college of arts and sciences, 25 per cent in the School of Business, 25 per cent in the School of Teacher Education, and 15 per cent in the Graduate School.

Dr. Cornette said that West Texas State is not only the one state-supported senior institution in the Texas Panhandle, but is the only fully accredited senior institution of any kind in "an area larger than any one of nine different states." He said the area has one of the greatest potentials for future economic development in the nation, and is already experiencing the population increase which accompanies such development.

"However, probably the most immediate and specific advantage of securing the title 'university' would be the removal of certain positive disadvantages which we are experiencing," Dr. Cornette said.

West Texas State's academic, research and athletic programs would benefit from changing the school's designation, Dr. Cornette said.

He said that WT is definitely at a disadvantage in securing research grants because of the designation as "college." He pointed out that of the approximately 500 research projects financed by the Cooperative Research Program of the U. S. Office of Education, only 34 were assigned to institutions called "colleges."

The making of football schedules and in securing a new conference alignment finds WT at a definite disadvantage because of its designation as "college," Dr. Cornette said.

Of the ten institutions on the 1962 football schedule, all except two had the title "university." One of the two was Texas Technological College, which will probably be seeking the designation of "university" soon.

Half of the institutions on the schedule designated "university" have had their names changed within the past few years. These are Arizona State University, New Mexico State University, Bowling Green University, and North Texas State University.

A university designation for WT would require no change in the college's present Board of Regents, according to C. S. Ramsey of San Augustine, president of the board.

WT was established in 1910 as "West Texas Normal College." Its title was changed in 1923 to "West Texas State Teachers College," and in 1949, in recognition of the broader scope of the institution, the Legislature dropped the Teachers' from the designation.

Group Makes Airport Plea Before Court

Randall County commissioners Monday heard a plea for establishment of a brand new Randall County Airport.

Appearing before the court were Kenneth Brown, Charles Connally, Wayne Kelso and T. C. Dewey making the request. Dudley Bayne, Hereford city manager, told the court of Hereford's experience with an airport.

The group also presented figures obtained from the airport authorities at Perryton.

A written instrument was presented to the court which declared that present facilities for this county are inadequate to handle the volume of aircraft traffic that is now operating in this area.

"The air traffic has dangerously overloaded the present private airports," the instrument declares.

"The present private airport traffic is channeled over homes in South Amarillo which is a hazard to property owners," it goes on. "In case of a crash many innocent people would be killed. Three of our schools are affected by this traffic pattern."

The instrument indicates that tie-down, hanger and fuel facilities might be provided for small airplane owners at a cheaper rate.

It says that on Tradewind airport shooting of landings by student pilots is dangerous.

The paper presented by the group pointed out that in event of a national emergency or local disaster an airport facility such as proposed would provide an alternate airport for military use.

"There are presently about 10 airplanes and 20 pilots in Canyon that need an airport to operate from," the proposal asserted.

The group proposed that the county build an airport with the help of Federal Aid on a 50-50 proposition. The minimum requirement for this airport would be two runways and adequate ramps and taxi-ways; one 4000 foot paved north, south runway; one sod 2800 foot runway; a northeast-southwest runway; one shop and terminal building.

Bayne told members of the court that the Hereford airport is being operated at a profit. He stated that flying people of the area are becoming dissatisfied with Tradewind.

He said the Hereford airport is getting a great deal of transient business which ordinarily could be expected to go to Tradewind.

Kelso acted as spokesman for the delegation. He said a county airport could expect plenty of

EIGHT GRASS FIRES SUNDAY

Canyon volunteer fire department had a busy time of it Sunday afternoon fighting a fast spreading grass fire.

City fire captain Joe Rice said the big grass fire was really 8 separate fires set by a Santa Fe train along the Santa Fe right-of-way as it passed through town. There were fires from the north end of Canyon to 8 miles south of town.

Rice said the first grass fire broke out Sunday afternoon at 1:30 near the Crow-Guide Cement Company at the north end of town. He said the passing train, which must have had a "hot-box", continued to set more fires as it moved south.

Rice said the fires cropped up in rapid succession along the right-of-way until a nine mile string of grass was burning.

Rice said that all manner of volunteers, farmers and bystanders helped with the fire fighting efforts. He said "They were swinging wet sacks, brooms and anything else they could get their hands on."

Several farmers helped contain the fires by cutting fire breaks with tractors and plows.

At one point during the hurried action, the fast moving grass fires got to within 1000 feet of Dreamland Cemetery south of Canyon before the firemen could intercept the blaze and put it out.

Rice said that 50 acres of winter pasture were burned. He said that several fences were destroyed and several telephone poles were badly burned in the fires. No buildings were burned, he said.

County Court Docket Call Is Scheduled

County court docket will be called at 9 o'clock next Monday morning, according to County Judge Wayland Angel.

Jury trials will be held the week of Feb. 4. Judge Angel said four cases of driving while intoxicated and three appeals from justice of the peace court are on tap for the week.

Parker began scouting work here in 1947 as assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 31. He became Scoutmaster the following year and then was promoted to institutional representative with the troop.

He later worked in Scouting at a District level in leadership training. Then he became district chairman, which entitled him to a seat on the council. He presently holds that post.

Gidden is a past president of the Chamber and has been a moving force for progress in the community for the past several years.

He is district manager here for Southwestern Public Service Company and is a native of this area.

Joe was born northwest of Tulsa but moved with his parents to Canyon as a lad in 1927. Since then his life has been closely associated with this community.

Joe attended West Texas High School and was graduated there in 1940. He attended West Texas State College until he went into the service.

He served as a crew chief in the Air Corps in the European Theater of Operations and won seven battle stars.

The Giddens have three youngsters. They are Howard, 13; David, 9; and Maureen, 6. Joe went to work for Southwestern Public Service Company in 1947 delivering ice. Southwestern operated an ice plant here then.

He left the company to work for Southwestern Bell Telephone and stayed with that company a year. He returned to the power company in 1949 as a lineman and then went to Lefors as an office manager in 1951.

Cornette Heads Scout Council

Dr. James P. Cornette was installed president of Llano Estacado Council, Boy Scouts of America, at a council meeting held Saturday night in West Texas State College cafeteria.

Dr. Cornette replaces Farris C. Oden in that post. Dr. Cornette had been serving as a council vice-president.

On hand to see the new president installed was a son, Bill Cornette, and Eagle Scout. Bill and Dr. Cornette both achieved that coveted rank together about two years ago.

More than 400 persons attended the council banquet and heard Dr. Walter K. Kerr of Tyler, attorney, minister and youth worker, declare that "this is the time of your life."

"Your vocation and avocation will kill you," Dr. Kerr told his listeners. "Just be sure it's worth dying for."

He pointed out that time is the ingredient from which life is made.

Dr. Kerr made three strong points in his talk.

1. He said giving time to the advancement of Scouting is making a major contribution to the cause of world peace. He noted that Scouting tends to teach understanding which reaches to the ends of the earth.

2. He said an American who

Miss Patricia Downing Bride Of Lloyd Locke In December

Miss Patricia Downing, 307 South A. Brownfield, Texas, became the bride of Lloyd Locke of Rt. 1, Littlefield, Texas, in a double ring ceremony that took place at 7 p.m. on December 21 in the first Methodist Church of Canyon. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Downing of Canyon and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Locke of Littlefield.

The Rev. Newton Starnes read the nuptial vows before an altar draped in white satin and centered with a bouquet of pink roses. Baskets of pink mums and gladioli as well as branched candelabra holding wedding tapers, flanked either side of the altar.

Organist was Mrs. Glenn Dowlen and Mrs. H. R. Fulton, soloist, sang "Because" and "Always."

Miss Nancy Downing was her sister's maid of honor, and bridesmaid was Miss Ruby Jones. The attendants were identically gowned in dresses of pink velveteen, fashioned with a gathered skirt, and complimented by pink accessories. They carried bouquets of pink mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white mist taffeta, designed with a basque bodice, with a crushed cummerbund and petal point sleeves. The scooped neckline was appliqued with imported Venetian lace, and outlined in pearls. The full skirt was created with lace panes in front, and self-fabric roses accenting the waist in back. Her illusion veil fell from a pillbox hat of matching taffeta, and she carried a bridal bouquet of pink roses.

Lynn Menton, a cousin of the bridegroom's, served as best man, and groomsmen and ushers were Luther Hill, Scott Downing and Ike Pearsons, the latter two are an uncle and cousin of the bride.

A reception in Fellowship Hall of the church followed the ceremony. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Allen Downing, Mrs. Gary Jones, Mrs. Albert King, Miss Velma Frank and Miss Barbara Myers.

For traveling on a wedding trip that included points of interest along the Texas Gulf coast, the bride wore a suit of pink wool, with matching accessories.

A 1959 graduate of Canyon

High School, the bride attended West Texas State College where she majored in elementary education, and received her degree in August of 1962. She is presently teaching in the public school system in Brownfield.

Mr. Locke attended Littlefield High School, and Canyon High. He graduated from Canyon High School in 1959 and is presently engaged in farming in Littlefield.

When it was determined that one of the visiting children had not had the disease, the Bryans took their boys to Amarillo and left them with family for the duration of

Forget Yourself Says Noted Speaker In Talk

"Forget yourself and think of others."

This was the prescription for happiness proposed by Dr. Charles Jarvis, San Marcos dentist, who spoke at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here last Thursday night.

Jarvis, a well known after dinner speaker, said most Americans are pessimistic. He said they tend to see the dark side.

"Americans seek a complicated happiness," he declared. Jarvis spun humor into philosophy as he addressed the gathering of some 300 persons assembled at West Texas State Cafeteria.

He said women pay too much attention to their children and too little attention to their husbands.

"I heard about a woman who killed her husband with a bow and arrow so she wouldn't wake up the kids," he declared.

"Money is important," the speaker went on. "It all depends on how you place it in your sense of values."

He admonished his listeners to enjoy themselves.

"Humor is God's aspirin to cure the pain of reality," he declared. The speaker pointed out that it is easier to smile than to frown.

He said only 27 muscles are used in a smile and 69 must be used to frown. "What this world needs is a few good belly laughs," he asserted.

"Live your life an hour at the time," Jarvis declared. "You don't need to figure out everything."

Presiding over the banquet was Carroll Vaughan, past president. Invocation was by Rev. Dr. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of Canyon First Baptist Church. Vaughan introduced guests and made the outstanding citizen award to Joe Gidden.

Members of the Chamber board were introduced by Huelyn Laycock, new Chamber president. Dinner music was furnished by the Pro-Marks, a West Texas State College group.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State.

would be a good citizen of the world first must be a patriotic citizen of America.

"This country moved further down the line toward the Kingdom of God than any country before it," he asserted.

Dr. Kerr said conflict destroys while cooperation builds. He said Americans have learned to cooperate voluntarily to a greater degree than mankind ever was able to do before in history.

He said totalitarian methods force cooperation while the American way teaches voluntary cooperation.

"When we must be forced to cooperate we lose the ability to compete," he declared. "Boy Scouting teaches a competitive spirit."

"You can serve your country through Boy Scouting."

Silver Beaver awards for achievement in Scout work went to O. W. "Bud" Parker of Canyon, Louie Daniels, Amarillo, and Neal Hutton of Dalhart.

Invocation was by Rev. William E. Pearce, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Happy. Dr. Cornette gave the welcome. Oden made introductions.

Installing officer was R. Earl O'Keefe. Group singing was led by Joe Godfrey.

Closing ceremony was directed by LeRoy Tillery.

3. He said there is a personal accountability to God. He said Boy Scouting develops this sense of accountability and "reaches boys where they are."

He referred to working with Boy Scouts as a "legitimate and fine way of evangelism for God."

tournament with a $2 entry fee per person. $1 of the fee goes to the March of Dimes and the other dollar pays for the bowling charge.

Morris said participants in the tournament may bowl at any time until the end of the tournament, January 31.

Rules for the tournament include men's, women's and mixed doubles. He said that bowlers with a current bowling average at Canyon Bowl, will receive a 75% handicap, giving all bowlers a fair shake at winning the tournament.

Chairman Wirt said the Coffee Day has been a part of the Canyon March of Dimes Drive for several years. Richard Pruett, owner and manager of the Village Drive Inn Restaurant, is chairman of the Coffee Day event.

He said that in former years, the Coffee Day has brought in more than $100 to the drive.

Final event, topping the 1963 drive, will be the Mothers' March. Mrs. Brotherton, chairman of the march, said that anyone who has not been contacted to work in the march can participate by meeting the group at Pioneer Natural Gas Company office in Canyon at 6 p.m. January 31. The mothers will conduct a door-to-door canvass of Canyon, soliciting funds.

Mrs. Brotherton also suggests that porch lights be kept on during the march, from 6 to 9 p.m.

In addition to the regular events for the 1963 drive, Canyon school children have really done their part in helping

Campbells Have Son

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Campbell have a baby son born at 8:40 o'clock Wednesday morning in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

The young man was named Robert Bruce and he weighs 6 pounds, 14 1/4 ounces.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Campbell of Wichita Falls and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Warren of Amarillo.

No Action On Proposal

Randall County Commissioners court took no action Wednesday on a proposal by Shelby Kritzer that the county buy Tradewinds Airport.

"I think that in view of the way things are around this table, we ought to forget the whole thing," Kritzer said. He said he would withdraw his proposal or the commissioners could turn it down.

Commissioner Butler said he was personally in favor of Kritzer withdrawing the proposal. Kritzer did just that.

Fire Hits Machine Shop Here

American Industrial Manufacturing Company, 1/2 mile northeast of U. S. 87 on McCormick Road, lost its machine shop to a Tuesday night fire. Damage will run into thousands.

Canyon fire department rushed to the scene in time to save the qionset but type store room of the welding company, but they could not save the wood and tin shop which adjoined the storage building.

City fire captain Joe Rice said all the machinery and tools in the shop were destroyed, but the storage building received only minor smoke damage. No estimate of damage costs was available at press time. Cause of the fire was unknown.

business as soon as runways are ready.

Kelso said several sites for the proposed airport have been considered. Among them is a section at the intersection of McCormick Road and the expressway and another is a section of the Dewey farm north-west of Canyon.

Kelso said a petition being circulated has more than 63 names. The request was taken under advisement pending the outcome of a meeting Wednesday with Shelby Kritzer, operator of Tradewind Airport.

Kritzer has offered to sell Tradewind to the county and then lease it back.

In other action, the court raised the salary of Sherry McDowell, deputy district clerk, to $304.50. This brings her salary in line with that of the deputy county clerk.

Student Accident Rate High Authorities Say

There has been a substantial upsurge in traffic accidents in Canyon.

City officials say the increase is tied to the increase in the number of student automobiles at West Texas State College.

A report by the Canyon city police department states that the percentage of West Texas State College students involved in city traffic accidents has risen from 21 percent in 1961 to 31 percent in 1962.

The report also states that the percentage of auto accidents on 23rd Street adjacent to the college has accounted for 37 percent of the total number of city accidents in 1962.

The 1961 percentage of traffic accidents on 23rd street was comparable, according to the report.

Listing the persons involved in city traffic accidents by occupation, the report states that West Texas College students lead the list. They accounted for 31 percent of the total accidents for 1962.

Second on the list of groups involved in traffic accidents are professional people, a grouping which includes teachers. The accounted for 18 percent of the people involved in city traffic accidents in 1962.

Other occupational groups in order of their involvement, according to the report, are housewives with 13 percent; laborers with 10 percent; high school students with 8 percent; farmers with 5 percent and the remainder divided among business people, retired people and salesmen.

The report stated that Monday, Thursdays, and Sundays were the three worst days of the week for accidents and the hours between 7 and 12 a.m. and 4 and 10 p.m. were the worst times of day for accidents.

It stated that September, December, January and May were the worst months, concerning traffic accidents.

Failure to yield the right of way was listed in 1962 as well as 1961 as the leading cause of city traffic accidents. Following too closely was second in 1962 as a cause of accidents.

Rev. S. Duane Bruce, Methodist pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiated at the services. Internment in Ochiltree Cemetery in Perryton was directed by Boxwell Brothers.

The baby which was born January 25, 1962 in Shattuck, Oklahoma, died at 11:20 p.m. January 16, in Texas Children's Hospital in Houston.

The baby died after heart surgery, according to its grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Ann Brillhart of Canyon.

The baby's mother is the former Kathy Brillhart, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Ann Brillhart of Canyon.

Pallbearers at the services were Troy Stubblefield, Bill Stamps, Max Stapp and Alvin Wainwright, all of Canadian.

Surviving besides the parents are the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fuson of Dalhart; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Ruth Ann Brillhart of Canyon; the maternal grandfather, James Brillhart of Spearman and the maternal great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Shearer of Perryton.

Randall Riding Group Installs New Officers

Installation of officers and directors, and presentation of awards to the Junior Deputies, were the main features at the annual banquet of the Randall County Sheriff's Posse held last Friday night at the American Legion Hall here in Canyon.

Belt buckles were awarded to four members of the Junior Deputies for scoring the most over-all points in local and District II play day competition.

Janice Allen was high point girl for the three local playdays, and Jan Jarnigan was high point girl for the District II playdays. Bill Hardaway was high point boy for both local and district events.

A number of other junior members received ribbons for placing in the individual contests at the playdays.

Officers installed were Clark

Mrs. C. L. McIlvain from Duncan, Oklahoma visited Mrs. Mary E. Boyce of Canyon Thursday and Friday of last week. Mrs. Boyce said it has been 24 years since they had seen each other and it was nice getting together again.

All the officers with the exception of Wheelock will serve as directors, with the addition of Bud Parker, Leroy Fross, Blain Hufnagle, and J. A. Edwards.

Bob Wear, minister of the Canyon Church of Christ, conducted the installation, and gave the charge of office to the officers and directors.

Following the installation, Pat O'Keefe of KCNC-TV lead the group in the singing of songs.

Down Austin-way the legislative mill is beginning to grind and some of us folks back home will watch the products with great interest if not concern.

At present it looks like there will be a large volume of business transacted. In fact, Governor Connally has called upon the legislature to think in terms of an almost revolutionary program. No doubt many constructive things will be done, but there will be some of the other kind, too. Even now one can foresee a few shadows.

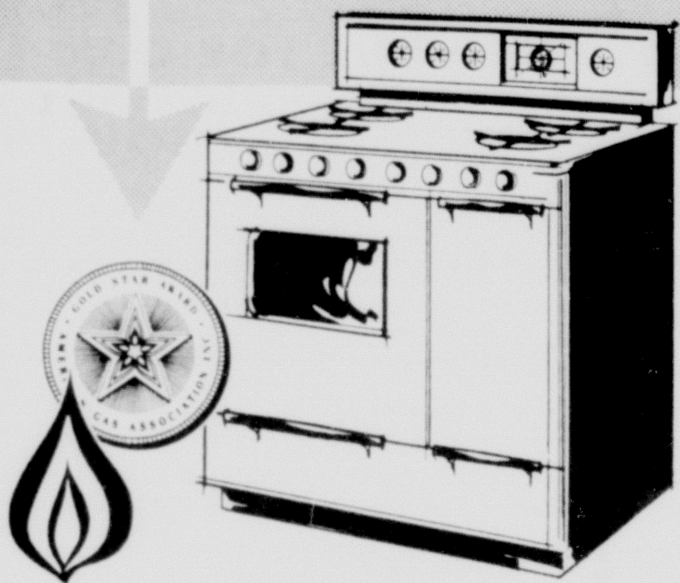

At this moment I am thinking of one that comes from a highly respected source. In his farewell address to the legislature Governor Daniel recommended a substantial raise in tuition

WE WANT TO GIVE THE VOTERS
A GOOD CHOICE
IN '64

by Troy Martin FROM THE CANYON RIM

What this country needs is an opposition party with the courage to present the facts to the American people persistently and consistently.

So says David Lawrence in US News & World Report and we agree with him.

There are few, if any, Republicans on the national scene who will tell this country the other side. We are convinced with Rocky staring us in the face as probable GOP candidate for the Presidency—that neither party can become a vehicle of conservatism.

Historians will remember that latter day Caesars—fearful beneath the purple mantle—relied on "bread and circuses" to keep the mob in line. Thus was the strength of Rome sapped and the gates finally thrown open to the barbarian.

Leadership of both parties, on a national level, seems to be made up of the bread and circus crowd. Both Rocky and his cohort, Senator Jacob Javits, on the Republican side, and the Kennedy clan on the other side are bread and circus kids from way back.

Promise enough give away and you can get anything is the motto of both crowds.

Unless the people who believe in the sanctity of private property and the glory of the free enterprise system field a party of their own, they're going to be faced with a "Heads I win, tails you lose" proposition for some time to come.

At mid-week there was strong talk of building a county airport. We endorse the plan. We view Tradewind as a white elephant as airports go.

In the first place, it's too close to a congested area and in the second place, it is not centrally located.

An airport west of the expressway and between Amarillo Canyon would be ideally located. It would be more accessible to Amarillo than the present facility at Amarillo Air Force Base.

It would be well outside the Amarillo Air Force Base pattern, according to information we get from people who are supposed to know.

In time, we believe such an airport would serve Amarillo and the Golden Spread as a great air terminal in an area that is taking to wings.

We strongly suggest an airport district embracing both Potter and Randall County. We believe that bonds could be issued which could be serviced with revenue from the earnings of the airport.

The federal government will and should participate in building such a facility because, in event of emergency, it would have great military potential.

Justice of the Peace Bill Wilson is the only man we know who keeps his pencil sharpener in a clothes closet. This is a fact. He really does.

Bob Kennedy says racial discrimination is the biggest internal problem that we have in the United States.

We contend that one of the biggest problems in the field of race relations is the refusal of certain minorities to take responsibility incumbent upon people who would be free and equal.

With a preacher friend of ours recently we visited a Negro church in Amarillo on a Sunday afternoon. The preacher had been doing missionary work with the church and had a key to the building.

There was no one on the premises and he opened the door so we could have a look around. Song books were scattered over the floor in disarray, windows were open and in the fellowship kitchen at mid-afternoon we found burners on the cook stove burning at full tilt.

In Amarillo, the Negro population has the choice real estate—the high ground. Yet, the Negro section is a sorry sight.

The decrepit appearance of the Heights in Amarillo cannot be blamed in whole on a poor economic situation. The Negro people of Amarillo have shared bountifully in the affluence of the Plains country in which they live.

Minor Fires Are Reported

Canyon volunteer fire department answered several fire calls last week, including two grass fires and one well house fire.

City fire captain Joe Rice said the first fire was at the city dump early Friday morning when the wind blew burning trash onto an adjacent pasture setting the grass afire.

The fire department with the aid of a nearby tractor and plow put the grass fire out in short order.

The second fire occurred Friday afternoon, 15 miles north of Canyon on the Santa Fe Rail Road right-of-way.

Rice said the fire was caused when a right-of-way crew let a grass fire get away from them. Rice said the crew was clearing the right-of-way of brush and tall grass at the time.

Another small fire occurred Saturday at noon when Hugh Kelso, in the south west end of town on 7th Avenue, attempted to thaw out frozen water pipes in his well house, causing the house to catch on fire. Damage to the well house was minor.

Water Department Has Frozen Pipe Troubles

Frozen water meters and water service lines thawing out after the long, hard freeze are keeping the city water department busy, according to Bill York, Canyon City Manager. "Dozens of calls to the city water department have kept the crews busy ever since the freeze-up," York said. He said that at least 50 city water meters froze up solid during the cold wave that hit Canyon Friday of last week, and many water service lines and pipes were also frozen. The city water department crews have been kept busy all week turning off broken water meters and repairing them as quickly as possible, he said. York said that the meters are designed with a pop out plug that lets the meters freeze without permanent damage, but that when they do freeze, they must be removed and the plug replaced. He said that he recommends that city water be allowed to slowly drip during the extreme cold spells. "This will keep the water moving and should prevent the pipes from freezing," he said. York also recommended closing off all "excess" openings under the house to prevent cold air from freezing water and sewer connections. York cautioned homeowners to be extremely careful when thawing water pipes with open flames. He said they should take care not to let the flames get too close to combustible materials such as walls and insulation. York said the city plans to fill meter boxes with caliche to prevent their freezing up in extremely cold weather.

Southern Association Accredits CHS Again

Canyon High School was recently accredited by the Association of Southern Colleges and Schools as a fully recognized secondary school for the year 1962-63. J. E. Miller, principle of the high school, said the accrediting by the association is the highest national recognition obtainable by the high school for scholastic excellence. He said there is an association for northern colleges and schools and the one for southern colleges and schools. Miller said Canyon High School has been accredited by the association since 1954. Miller said the school has to turn in an annual report to the association and is inspected each summer by a committee of college and secondary school educators who look the school over. Miller said that the entire Canyon Independent School District is presently undergoing a self-study as a first step in achieving recognition from the association as an accredited school system. He said that previously, only the individual school was considered for the recognition, but that now, if all goes well, the entire school system will be recognized. Miller said the Canyon High School faculty has an above average education level. There are 16 teachers at CHS who have master of Education degrees or better and 13 teachers who have the required Bachelor of Arts degrees, he said. In addition to the education level of the teachers, the administrative staff also has a high level of education, he said. Joe Gibson, superintendent of the school district has a BS degree as well as an MS; the principle of the high school, J. E. Miller has BS and MS degrees in education and the high school counselor also has BS and MS degrees in education. Miller said that over half of the high school classroom teachers have masters degrees in education. This is above the national average, he said. Miller also said that Canyon High School pays its teachers $300 above the minimum required of it by the State Board of Education.

as a block of votes--docile and easily led. There is nothing they would fear more than a trend toward responsible citizenship on the part of the Negro masses. If this should happen the Negro vote would no longer be a balance of power in sure ballots for the group who can weep the loudest over his plight.
The Emancipation Proclamation made the Negro free 100 years ago.
Only through accepting responsibility of citizenship can the Negro race win for itself the self respect without which no individual or race can expect to be a first class citizen. This is something that cannot be granted by a Supreme Court or insured by federal marshals. It can come only through struggle in the souls of the people involved--the Negroes themselves.

An example of Negroes who accepted responsibility--- George Washington Carver could not be more revered in the South if his face had been milk white.

rates at state colleges and universities. The purpose of such increase is to help meet the state's rapidly growing budget demands.
This is not a new proposal. It was pushed before the last legislature and was aggressively demanded by certain special interest as far back as 1933. In fact, tuition was raised that very year-- in the very depth of the depression and dust-bowl days when thousands of Texas youths were literally fighting for their educational lives. In other words, the legislature and Governor of that day joined depression and drought in closing the door of opportunity to a large number of worthy, ambitious Texas young people.
You needn't whine in dissent, for that is exactly what happened. I know, because I happened to be very close to the situation. Had it not been for the emergency help that came from the national government over a period of years thousands of yet others would have had the door slammed in their faces. Texas' niggardly and short-sighted policy then and her susceptibility to the influence of special interest almost made of me an advocate of federal aid to education.
Advocates of higher tuition at state institutions of higher learning are all the time pointing out the increased earning capacity that a college education gives. Without denying that fact, let me ask if a high school diploma doesn't give its holder a similar advantage over non-graduates of high school? You have to answer that in the affirmative. Then, to be consistent? You must favor high school and grade-school tuition. The logical end of such thinking would be the abolition of free schools.
In the U. S. News of Jan. 21 the President of Michigan State University, in an interview with that publication, says on the subject of higher tuition: "---every time fees are raised--even a little--we price more students out of the opportunity to go to college."--- In speaking of the origin of tax-supported colleges and universities he said: "The idea was that it is in the public interest to provide colleges with low fees and low living costs so that the youngster born into a family disadvantaged economically could still have an opportunity to get an education and compete with the children of the well-to-do."
"Of course, there are many in state universities who can afford higher fees--the boy who comes to school with a new convertible, for example. But a very substantial number of our students come from families where there is little money. I think we ought to think several times before we say, 'Well, let's just pass this cost on to the student.'"
It is sometimes said that raising tuition will not keep out many. On this point several studies have been made in recent years and the almost unanimous verdict is to the contrary. For example, a study of high ability youth made by the National Science Foundation, declared, according to a National Education Association bulletin, that "among the upper 30 percent of 17-year-olds, the largest single reason for failure to enter college appears to be inadequate financial resources."

It is said that one-half of male college drop-outs and one-third of the female are due to lack of funds.
We hear it said in defense of increased tuition that there are many young people in state colleges and universities that have no business there--just wasting their time and their parents' money. The answer is, a majority of the trifiers come from affluent homes. High tuition would leave them there still trifling. Those who can't afford high tuition do the least trifling, as a rule.

Another thing. Under present procedures the students are contributing vast sums to the maintenance and plant expansion of our state-supported colleges and universities. Tuition and fees supplement the budget in many places and profits from the operation of dormitories are amortizing indebtedness on practically all dormitories, feeding, and recreational facilities--millions of dollars right out of student pockets.
Finally, this proposal would tax opportunity and opportunity is the first, last, and middle name of America. Also, since college education increases one's capacity to produce and since high tuition deters many capable youngsters from attending college, it amounts to a tax on productivity. Honestly, folks, there isn't a single defensible reason for raising tuition at our state-supported colleges and universities.

Let's ask our friends in the legislature and the Governor to swat this proposal.

says MRS. CHARLES J. BLACK,
300 W. Cherry, Amarillo, Texas

Sandy and Candy are inseparable pals. That is, except when Sandy, 6 years old, is playing with her dolls. You can tell by her smile that she's happy in her electrically heated home.

Mr. Black, an avid hunter, is passing the benefit of his experience on to son, Chuck, age 9. Here, he instructs him in safety handling of firearms.

The den of the Black home is lined with exciting trophies, ranging from elk to antelope. Here he admires a 1958 deer that held dressed 250 pounds, placing it in the trophy class.

Mrs. Black, and her family are completely happy with their electric heating. Their home is not only heated, but is also cooled by an electric heat pump. They are impressed with the over-all warmth throughout the house. Mrs. Black is particularly happy with the cleanliness of electric heating and the "wall" test she is making in the top photograph proves it. You, too, can now enjoy electric heating in your new home or you can convert your existing home with little inconvenience.

Well, all the seasons are over for the year---no more excuses to get out of the house. At least not until it gets warm enough to go fishing.

Some of the luckier sportsmen haven't waited for the warm weather. Richard Pruett and friends took off for Falcon Reservoir---one of the best black bass fishing holes in the Southwest---in our opinion.

It is a known fact that only a few years after a new reservoir starts backing water, it gradually becomes a really hot fishing spot---especially for blacks and white bass.

Falcon reservoir is nearly at the back end of nowhere, but once you have fished for blacks there, you will probably find it worthwhile. It is quite a fishing hole. Falcon is just a little over an hour's drive from Laredo and there are some pretty fair motels and such near the dam.

Soon to be finished in the same area is El Diable, better known as Amistad Reservoir. Diablo will be on the middle part of the Rio Grande stretching from the Big Bend country near Langtry southeast to below the mouth of Devil's River. It will be one of the longest, deepest and we think the bestest black bass and catfish hangout in the Southwest.

In this end of the country, the coming Canadian Reservoir will be a second Lake Texoma, another good bass fishing hole.

It will be a few years after the water starts backing up that the big ones begin to show, but it will be a fine place to fish eventually. In addition to the big ones, we think the Canadian will also supply a more than plentiful daily catch of whites and medium blacks. Texoma is perhaps more noted for its consistently long strings of fish than its big fish. Canadian will be likewise, we predict.

Our keeper of the birds out at Buffalo Lake Wildlife Refuge, Bob Brown, that is, tells us that the ice really got thick during the recent cool spell.

Bob Cough of Abilene, Hank Bounds of Canyon hunt with Farmer Brown, again below the H. G. Hurst of Abilene, and P. W. Wilson of caprock near Aspermont. Farmer said the Abilene pose with the day's results after a brush was pretty high with lots of weeds.

Farmer Brown with his young pointer, Bozo, after a recent trip with Frank Bounds. The twosome went below the caprock in the neighborhood of Turkey. Farmer said they saw one covey of quail with 30 birds.

He said the ice was more than 6 inches thick in most places and around the margins where the wind blew the ice up on the shores, the plates got above a foot thick.

Brown said the thick ice discouraged most of the ice fishermen---those that love fishing that much. We like to fish---you bet, but not when the temperature is below zero and the wind above 20 knots.

Brown said the birds are still with us at the refuge. In fact, there are possibly more now than before. Upwards of 260,000 ducks and 18,000 geese. He said he was watching a flight of 200 geese wheeling over the refuge as we were talking with him. Bet it was pretty.

The ducks and geese still are in pretty good shape, he said. He mentioned that he and his crew have counted 13 eagles lately---10 golden and 3 bald. He said they are picking off the diseased and sick geese and ducks at the refuge. It sounds like the eagles are a menace to the birds but actually they do more good than harm. The groups will be better off without the slow and diseased among them.

It would be really expensive, (and probably impossible) to inspect and cull out the poorer of the migratory waterfowl.

It is also good news to find so many bald eagles in one place. In many sections of the country, the bald eagle, our national bird, has become extinct. Kaput and no more. We are glad there are a few still around.

We asked Brown about plans to open part of the refuge for recreation. He informed us that he now has engineers working at the refuge drawing up maps in preparation for recreation development.

We specifically asked him about letting bird dog enthusiasts use more of the refuge and we were told that at least until the waterfowl banding is over, bird dog work will be limited to the north and east parts of the refuge. Perhaps when the recreation plans for the area are drawn up there will be some inclusion of an area for bird doggers to work out.

Talking to Dr. Busted said he is taking his better springer spaniels to the upcoming United States Open Championships for Britany Spaniels to be held for the first time in Ardmore, Oklahoma. The good doctor said this marks the first time that the U.S. Open for spaniels will be held in the South. It usually is held in the North or on the west coast, he said.

The first local bird dog trials are to be held in Amarillo on March 1. Sponsored by the Panhandle Bird Dog Club, the coming trials promise to be a good spectator sport for those without dogs as well as for those placing entries.

Dr. Busted said anyone wanting to enter their dogs in the field trials or just plain wanting information can write or go by and see J. J. Knittel who is secretary of the Panhandle club. His address is 7900 Western Avenue, Amarillo Texas.

Dr. Busted said there will be other dog trials in Amarillo on March 23. More on that later.

If anyone has the straight poop on how to make it rain or snow several inches---let out with it. We need some moisture in the ground for the coming spring. Look at us. The middle of winter and talking about spring so soon. Let's go fishing.

As Pogo would say, "I start looking for Spring along about October!" You bet.

Lions Hear Girl Scouts

Girl Scouts of Canyon presented the program for the Lions Club during their weekly meeting last Wednesday.

Shirley Anderle, a West Texas sophomore from Midland, told her experiences at the two International Girl Scout Round-ups she has attended---at Button Bay, Vermont, in 1962, and at Colorado Springs, Colorado, in 1959.

Lillian Cowart, a member of the senior troop here, explained the scouting program in Canyon, giving the aims and purposes of scouting, and the number of girls in Canyon who are members of the organization. She also told the Lions that the senior troop here is a lone troop and does not belong to any council.

Representing the Brownie Scouts was Connie Ormsby. She told about some of the crafts made by Brownies, and of the thing that Brownies enjoy most in scouting---day camp.

The girls were sponsored by Mrs. Charles Nester, leader of the senior troop.

Ancient Horse Bones Found In Excavation

BY JIM THOMAS
Bones of an ancient one-half-million-year-old horse were uncovered last week in a 14 foot deep excavation at the residence of Bernard Warren in Canyon.

Workers for the RAR Construction Company found the bones while excavating a deep pit for a fallout shelter at the Warren residence.

Harold Root, one of the partners in the construction company, called Jack Hughes, curator of paleontology at the Panhandle Plains Museum, Hughes immediately went to the scene of the discovery to preserve and remove the skeleton for the museum.

Hughes, upon arrival at the excavation, confirmed that the skeleton was that of an ancient horse that probably lived during the Pleistocene Era of about one half million years ago.

Hughes said positive identification of the horse as to species and a more accurate estimate of its age would depend upon finding and studying its skull. He said the skull usually is the best indication as to the species of the animal.

Hughes said the animal probably died and fell into what was then the shallow water of an ice-age or Pleistocene lake. He said the skeleton was preserved because the dead animal sank into the soft lake bottom mud and was sheltered from the ravages of weather until its discovery.

Viewing the exposed portion of the skeleton from within the pit, Hughes said the animal was lying on its side. He eventually uncovered the horse's two front feet, a part of the left shoulder bone and the skull intact with most of its teeth.

He said the horse was evidently an old one, pointing to the well worn back molar teeth exposed in the jawbone of the animal.

Hughes picked up stray bits and pieces of leg bones that were scattered about the site and then carefully cleared the excess dirt and clay away from the rest of the bones in preparation for shellacking and plaster-casting the skeleton.

He said he only expected to find scattered pieces of bone when he first got to the site, but was pleasantly surprised to see that the legs of the skeleton were fairly intact. He said that many of the parts of the legs and their joints were in a good state of preservation.

The left front leg, which was the first to be discovered, was badly broken up, he said, but the right front leg, which was buried until he uncovered it, was in good shape. Its hoof and several of the leg joints could be clearly seen after Hughes had carefully cleared away the dirt.

Hughes said that as soon as he realized the skeleton might be complete, he covered it with plaster soaked rags forming a hard cast around the bones. This would allow him to remove portions of the skeleton without disturbing the way they were found in the ground.

"These fossil remains are very fragile," he said.

Hughes said the bones would be removed to the museum once the plaster had set. He said they could then be cleaned and studied or prepared for display in the museum.

Hughes said that all manner, sizes and shapes of prehistoric horses roamed what is now the Great Plains and that many of their skeletons were preserved in the bottom muds of ice-age lakes that dried up when the continental glaciers melted and receded from the plains.

Hughes said that due to the steep walls of the excavation, it was doubtful whether he would be able to remove the entire skeleton without causing a cave-in of the pit. It is 14 feet deep. "We may have to be satisfied with just the skull, legs and shoulder bones," he said.

Professor Jack Hughes, curator of paleontology at Panhandle Plains Museum and associate professor of geology at West Texas State College is putting the final touches on the skull of a half-million-year-old horse skeleton before he coats the skull in plaster. The plaster will form a cast around the skull, allowing Hughes to remove the delicate bones to the Museum for study.

The skull of the Pleistocene horse was found in an excavation at the home of Bernard Warren in Canyon.

Certificates of Investment of $4000 from the Rockwell Endowment Fund for West Texas State College are shown to President James P. Cornette by Milton Morris, director of student finances. The new endowment fund for WT was given by the Rockwell Fund, Inc., of Houston, which will award the college $20,000 over a ten-year period. Interest on the investments will go to students in the Opportunity Plan, Inc., at WT.

Rockwell Endowment Is Given Opportunity Plan

Second installment on a $20,000 endowment fund for West Texas State College has been received from the Rockwell Fund, Inc., of Houston, according to Milton Morris, director of student finances. A "James M. Rockwell and Sarah Wade Rockwell Endowment Fund" for West Texas State was set up last fall, Morris said, and under the terms of the fund, a total of $2,000 a year for ten years would be at the disposal of the college.

"The money has been invested, and each year as additional amounts are received, will continue to be invested," Morris said. "Interest received on the investment will be used for the benefit of Opportunity Plan, Inc., students."

The late Mr. Rockwell once owned a lumber yard, the Eagle Lumber Yard, and a number of other lumber companies in the Panhandle area. He and Mrs. Rockwell were residents of Amarillo in the early 1890's moving to Houston in 1895. The lumber yard in Canyon was sold to the late C. R. Burrow in 1919, after he had managed the Canyon firm for a number of years.

Dedication of the new fund is to James M. and Sarah Wade Rockwell and to "the pioneers of the Panhandle."

We are truly fascinated by the great array of costume and precious jewelry shown in great quantities for our choosing these days. There is an endless amount and always each new season brings a more beautiful display with ideas to suit our ever whim and desire, and even our purse!

It is curious to trace the first appearance of necklaces among the Egyptians, in the same form as they exist at the present day upon the necks of the Patagonians, and the natives of the islands of the Pacific. It became not only a simple ornament but a superstitious amulet.

Warriors wore the valuable necklaces as safety amulets. The Medes, Persians, Indians and Etruscans wore necklaces and collars of gold, called Torques. When an army was conquered, the necklaces made up an important part of the spoils.

Necklaces were worn by both Greek and Roman women, but only behind closed doors, or on occasions of domestic festivity.

At Rome, as with the old Egyptians, the materials of the necklace altered from a simple row of berries or small glass spheres, etc., to pearls, amber, and precious stones; the simple chaplet, which primitively encircled the throat, gradually extended to a second and even a third row; after which we find the original necklace adorned with drop or pendant, which, when worn fell around the neck like rays from a center.

Emeralds or other gems of a greenish hue, were greatly prized.

From the Etruscan ornaments were most beautiful (British Museum). One gold ornament is a wreath of ivy leaves in pairs, the stems of the leaves joining, while others consist of circles, lozenges, rosettes, hippocampi (sea horses) and a heart.

Necklaces in the shape of serpents were worn by the Greeks and Romans, by whom the emblem was regarded as a charm against witchcraft and the "evil eye." Romans also decorated the statues of their divinities with them.

Beads have been found of crystal, jet, amber, colored glass, bone, ivory and canel coal.

The penalty for wearing anything gold or gilt about the neck in the Henry VIII's time, unless the wearer was a gentleman, or could prove that he possessed a 200 pound yearly value, had to forfeit the necklace, a regulation that kept things in their proper balance.

Superstition has been connected with the necklace in many forms. The agate against the infectious air; amber against infection or fainting, coral to help children stay well.

White bryony (anodyne) to help a baby cut its teeth. The necklaces of today are so beautiful and unusual, that fashion experts list them always at the top of their lists in making suggestions to the color and finishing up of a complete fashion design.
